

03

Jack is the antagonist on the island. He causes most of the trouble on the island. At the start of the novel he first appears as a 'bat like creature' crawling across the beach. This is because he is with his choir and they are in their black robes. When ~~Rat~~ they have

3.3

They have an election to see who should be chief, this is an important moment because if Jack had become chief the story would have been a lot different. Jack believed he should be chief because he can 'sing' and is 'head boy' but he still lost.

3.1 and 3.5

Another importance of Jack is he is a hunter, after he finds the ~~Sas~~ Piglet caught in the creepers he was fixed on killing a pig. He would refuse to do any thing else because 'we need meat' so he thought. For example he believed meat was more important than shelters and rescue even though there is lots of fruit on the island. He thought hunting was so important that he would make people leave the jobs and go and hunt. When a ship came by the signal was not the because they were hunting.

Another importance of Jack is him hitting Piggy and breaking his glasses this shows Jack starting to break the rules and not believe in the conch. When he dose this it doesn't just hurt Piggy it blinds him in one eye.

4.5.7

Another importance of Jack is when he splits ~~from~~ from the others and forms his own tribe.

This ~~is a~~ ~~sign~~ of is the start of the end because if Jack is in charge bad things will happen, as he is evil.

4.5

Something else that is important about Jack in the ~~novel~~ novel is the Dance that they do. ~~as they~~ The dance starts off as a game but soon turns in to a ritual violent ritual that ultimately gets Simon killed ^{because} ~~as~~ the crowd turn into a frenzy when Simon ~~fall~~ crawls in and they think he is the beast and rip him to shreds

Golding presents Jack to be disliked by the reader. Jack is very aggressive because ~~when~~ at the start of the book every body starts ~~talk~~ talking so he stabs a tree to quiet them down. Jack is a bit like the fire, hard to control, unpredictable and will kill somebody like when takes credit ~~of~~ for Piggy's killing and the fire killing the boy with the mulberry scar.

Jack is also also arrogant and ~~but~~ thinks he is better than he is, like when he ~~of~~ said 'Who thinks Ralph oughtn't be Chief' this shows he thinks he is better than Ralph, he also gets the Savages to treat him like a king when he isn't ~~none~~ one.

3.4

Jack's red hair is a symbol of the devil and and his 'bolting mad eyes' show from the start that the devil that lies within is very easy to spot with Jack.

4.3?

Jack's face paint is also a another way ~~of~~ Golding presents him because at first he wears it just for hunting ~~but~~ but then it is ~~perinat~~ perinat and the mask gets darker as the novel progresses showing ~~whow~~ how Jack gets ~~eviler~~ eviler.

Jack is very determined and focused on killing Pigs. after his first encounter with the Piglet caught in ef creepers he was constantly obsessed with it. trying to make barbs for spears, full paint and masking his sent are all things he tried to do to kill a Pig.

17

This is a sustained response to the text :: 3.2 fulfilled - as is the rest of Band 3. Also fulfill 4.5 and 2.1.

Steinbeck uses the Passage to present Candy 4.3 as a well informed go old moon man who (just) knows whats what. He first informed Lennie and George about Curly's new wife who seems a bit of a tart. Candy seems to know who Curly's wife is giving the "eye" and try being to explain to how she is a flirt and a tart.

a.

1.1

In the Passage it seems like Candy the old swamper has been at the ranch for a very long time and knows everybody pretty well, like when he says ^{tells} to George about Slim like he has known him for a long time and admires him "hell of a nice fella." is one of the things that he says.

2.1

in this Passage Candy is shown as very opinionated and sure of him self and because he says things like "well, i think Curly's married a tart." and he also says "I know what i saw as in nobody would believe him because he is old and abit so as slow because he repeats himself like he when he says "I Seen ~~of~~ her give Curly the eye" he repeats him self at the end of the sentence.

d

p10

2.3

In the Passage Steinbeck showed similarities between Candy and his dog ~~as~~ because Candy is referred to as old and the dog is 'ancient'.

2.2 in the whole of part a) b.

I think Candy is used to portray the racist and prejudiced culture at this time. Candy has lost one hand in an accident and thinks he will be fired very soon because the only thing keeping him here is ~~the~~ the ranches fault he lost his hand.

3.3

Candy's fate is evoked by ~~the~~ his old dog's because one night Carlson asks whether he could shoot the old ~~mad~~ dog because it was old and smelly, couldn't run and had to be hand fed by Candy, but at ~~first~~ ^{first} Candy was reluctant to do it because the dog was a friend to him and they are both very similar as ~~both~~ both Candy and the ~~dog~~ dog are seen as old and ~~useless~~ less by the people ~~at~~ at that time.

Candy over hears something Lennie and George talking about a house, and Candy tries to offer them the money that they need if he can join in because he realizes that The boss will fire him soon and he wants a job.

2.4

Candy also represent who important manual labour was to people at this time because if you can't ~~too~~ work manually and you weren't very clever you were useless to people at that time. This also shows ~~it~~ how mechanisation hadn't taken over at this point ~~it~~ and people were very reliant on manual labour.

Write the two digit question number inside the boxes next to the first line of your answer

Answer

Leave blank

When Candy's dog died he felt like the same would happen to him so he just sat there trying to comprehend the loss and the future. This is a lot like Lennie stroking mice to death and then him killing Curley's wife when stroking her hair and just like when Lennie is in breed and he grabs the girl's dress and won't let go and the same happens to Curley's hand.

Band 1 - but not 1.5
Band 2 - but not 2.5
Band 3 - fulfils 3.3

} does rest in these bands

9

